Living autism day.by.day

Daily Reflections and Strategies to Give You Hope and Courage

by Pamela Bryson-Weaver

About the Book

An autism diagnosis can be difficult for families to come to terms with, as well as the cause of much concern and many, many questions. Pamela Bryson-Weaver has the answers. With her gift for storytelling, deep sense of compassion, and rich understanding of Autism-related issues, Bryson-Weaver takes readers on a year-long journey in just a few minutes a day. Each day, Living autism day.by.day offers words of hope, insightful stories, and gentle and kind advice from another parent who isn't a doctor or therapist--a parent who is living through the same fears and gets exactly what other parents are going through, because she's going through it, too. Living autism day.by.day is a great resource for parents, caregivers, family and friends. A must-have for anyone who has or works with a child with an Autism Spectrum Disorder.

Readers will learn:

- What professional services are offered in the field of Autism Spectrum Disorders
- Clear explanations of the new terms families will hear as they enter the world of autism treatment and intervention
- How to handle the complex emotions and issues parents and caregivers will experience on a personal level

About the Author

Pamela Bryson-Weaver offers her wisdom, knowledge, and expertise as a mother of an autistic child, an advocate for autism, and a speaker on autism. Two of her three children have special needs: John, her youngest son, has autism and her oldest, Joshua has Tourette's and ADHD. During Bryson-Weaver's entire professional career she has worked with many clients who have special needs, including Autism Spectrum Disorders. Bryson-Weaver is a past president of the Autism Society in New Brunswick, Canada. Her activism has allowed her to work with government, members of Parliament, and other parents. Thanks to their combined efforts, all children diagnosed with an Autism Spectrum Disorder in New Brunswick receive $20,000 a year for treatment. Bryson-Weaver also served as the Director of Pee Wee Active Living (formerly Junior Special Olympics), a program she began in Fredericton, NB.
